

Trachymene species

PRE-TREATMENT – No pre-treatment is required for this species.

SOWING – Best time for sowing is in Autumn, seeds can be sown directly in the garden or can be sown in seed trays or individual pots.

Use a good quality Australian native seed raising mix and only just cover the seeds lightly. Mist spray the seeds to ensure that seeds aren't disturbed.

Be sure to apply a slow release native fertilizer at the time of planting in the garden or when sowing seeds in trays/pots.

Keep moist but not too wet.

CULTIVATION – Prick out seedlings in the Spring when seedlings are 5 – 10cm tall and plant out in the garden. It prefers a full sun position.
